

What's the problem with fats, oils and grease?

When fats, oils and grease are put down the drain, they can clog sewer pipes.

Sewer clogs can cause untreated sewage to backup and overflow into your home, or business, onto the street and even into storm drains that lead to the ocean.

Sewage spills can spread disease and harm the environment. Spills can also be expensive to clean up, and can lead to expensive fines or closures for businesses like restaurants.